

The Master of Science in Management

UA&P
UNIVERSITY OF ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

THE ACADEMIC PROGRAM

The Master of Science in Management (MScM) program of the University of Asia and the Pacific is a straight Master's course that combines academic and work that will simulate your life in the real world when you graduate. The program is divided into two parts: the Liberal Arts Program of the College of Arts and Science (CAS) and the Masters Degree proper by the School of Management. The MScM students begin with the CAS undergraduate education which gives its students a well-rounded education that cultivates genuine intellectual discipline. After completing the undergraduate studies, the students will move on to MScM where, at the end, the students get their master's degree.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Organizational Immersion

The MScM students are immersed in a corporate setting for 300 hours. They apply management theories to projects in different functional areas of an organization. The internship design is customized and aligned with the students' career objectives. Mentors are assigned to follow-up the progress of the students' development. Students may opt to do their internship abroad.

Business-Academe Partnership

The Management Program has a deliberate integration of academic expertise and professional experience. This is provided at three levels: the Business Planning projects, the Internship and the Structured Mentoring Process. Business Planning competence is tested by requiring students to do a Business Plan for sizeable investment projects of actual corporate proponents. MScM students will undertake seven months of paid project-based internship for the school's Business-Academe Partners – most of which are multinational companies.

Global citizenship Program

The SMN Global Citizenship Program is an annual international study tour program designed for the students of School of Management particularly under the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration as well as Master of Science in Management. The program aims to make its students a holistic person by exposing them to international cultures and societies. With these efforts, the program also addresses the needs of the world by making the graduates of School of Management a global citizen. In relation to this, the School of Management also believes that learning is not only limited to classroom discussions but also by working and dealing with people of other cultures and society.

Executive Decision Series

MScM invites executives from different industries to share their experiences in the corporate to the students. This becomes an avenue for the MScM students to learn from the seasoned alumni and to align their career plans with what is out there in the real corporate setting

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

Coaching and Mentoring

A distinct coaching mentoring process reinforces the strategic qualities of an MScM student on a personal level. Students' needs are matched with the coaches' and mentors' areas of specialization. Coaches and mentors are responsible for offering support and encouragement to the students, while also challenging them to examine and emulate professional standards, norms, and values.

Career Planning

MScM is the only program in the university that offers individualized career planning and management workshops to its students. Its main objectives are to determine the core competencies and interest of each student and to help them develop their career plans.

Spiritual Formation

The spiritual formation in UA&P is entrusted to Opus Dei, a Prelature of the Catholic Church founded by St. Josemaria Escriva. The Opus Dei Prelature provides the University with chaplains whose offices are in charge of the University's daily liturgical celebrations. Opus Dei guarantees the doctrinal and moral soundness of the other aspects of formation which the University offers. There are recollection seminars and spiritual counselling available to those who seek to grow spiritually.
